WHILE at Doniphan for the State Shoot, Ben Schoenrock slipped me the information that fishing is good at Johnson Lake.

Schoenrock, a former State game warden now a member of the Grand Island police force, produced a picture to prove his statement concerning the big pond adjacent to El-

Ideal DURING his tour of duty with the Game Commission, Schoenrock was this corre-spondent's idea of a warden.

He was fearless in line of duty. While tending to his warden chores he always was alert to helping a young fisherman who, new at the game, was having difficulty in enticing a fish from the water to the frying pan.

Ben's "pinches" included a couple of state employes who suffered the embarrassment of being caught with an over limit bag of eight.

These gents, rather high ranking in state departmental affairs, were using a state automobile when they made their fishing junket. To add to the embarrass-ment, one of the pair before departing for Johnson Lake had issued a rather crisp memorandum to department em-ployes concerning the "use of state cars on private business. Schoenrock's report had certain repercussions at the Cap-
